and Leadership

7:30 a.m. - 10:30 a.m.

For five decades CBER has been at the forefront of delivering trusted economic insights and leadership that drive business decisions, inform policy making, and shape public dialogue about Nevada's economy. To help share that information with the public, since the early 1990s CBER has hosted Outlook, our annual economic forecasting breakfast which brings together local and national expertise to discuss the year ahead.

But this year we plan on doing things a little bit differently. Outlook 2025 will be more than just a discussion on the local and national economy—it will be a celebration of CBER's legacy and forward-looking discussion about what lies ahead. Expect expert analysis on the economic forces shaping Southern Nevada, the release of economic forecasts on the U.S. and local economy, and engaging discussions from our keynote on the global sports and entertainment economy, which has already transformed Southern Nevada.
